PROGRAMME OBJECTIVE AND STRUCTURE

Structure

The evening Master of Project Management (MPM) is specifically designed for managers and executives who potentially will have full time job responsibilities and cannot afford to attend an advanced management education on full time basis. This course aims to meet the growing needs of African public and private sector enterprises in the area of project management. Investors and managers are becoming more concerned with the use of scarce and often difficult to mobilise financial resources. Meanwhile, there has been an increase in the demand for and management of quality public and private sector investments. This course will develop an in-depth understanding of different approaches to development planning and economic policy issues, with a thorough training in techniques for the planning, design and economic analysis of African development projects and programmes. There is a strong emphasis on issues and analytical techniques relating to choices in project design, and cost-benefit analysis. Environmental analysis will be covered in detail to reflect the need for the better management of natural resources.
